

CALL FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Showcase your organization's leadership at Canada's annual flagship conference on women and children's health and rights!

April 18-19, 2018 – Ottawa

The Canadian Partnership for Women and Children's Health (CanWaCH) is convening its annual two-day conference at the Westin Ottawa to explore how we can carve out a bold new vision for Canada's global health interventions post-2020.

Civil society and NGOs, academics, researchers, health practitioners, government representatives, advocates and youth will examine the progress made to date and explore forward-looking solutions that will advance the future Canada's global women and children's health programming.

The global health and development landscape has changed. New 'lenses' have emerged to guide us in shaping, evaluating, and executing health-based development interventions. This includes key domestic shifts articulated in the Feminist International Assistance Policy, and new international frameworks such as the Sustainable Development Goals, the Women Deliver Deliver for Good campaign, and the Every Woman Every Child Global Strategy.

At the CanWaCH 2018 Annual Conference we'll bring it all into 'focus' by reflecting on current programs to see where we've arrived and by putting on our new lenses to view where we need to be!

Bring your organization and its work into focus too by becoming a conference contributor!
